Carnegie SVRA to Close For One Day to Recreational Use

The Carnegie State Vehicular Recreation Area (SVRA) will be closed April 1, 2001 to recreational use by off-highway vehicles because of a competition that is taking place that day.

The one-day closure is in effect because of the 13th California State Championship Hill Climb, which will be held that day. Event organizers said a record attendance is expected.

The exception will be competitors officially entered in the hill climb contest. Spectators are restricted to operating their vehicles to and from the event area only.

Park officials said limited camping will be available on a first come-first serve basis only.

Further information may be obtained by contacting the Carnegie SVRA at (925) 447-9027.

The Carnegie SVRA is located at 18600 Corral Hollow Road in Tracy, CA.
